

Rockbuster Findings

Task 3.10

By: Ageel Alramadhan

Project Overview & Key Questions

- Project Goal:

Help Rockbuster's business team understand customer behaviour and rental patterns.

- What we analysed:

- Film lengths, rental rates, and replacement costs
- Countries and cities with the most customers
- Highest-value customers

- Business questions we aimed to answer:

1. What do film length, rental rates, and replacement costs tell us about Rockbuster's film catalog?
 2. Where are Rockbuster's biggest customer markets?
 3. Who are the most valuable customers?

Film Length, Rental Rates & Replacement Costs (Task 3.6 Step 2)

- Key Insights
 - Rockbuster's films vary widely in length—from short 46-minute titles to long 185-minute features—giving customers a broad range of viewing options.
 - Rental pricing is simple and predictable, with most films priced around $3, signaling a consistent and accessible pricing strategy.
 - Replacement costs range from $9.99 to $29.99, suggesting different levels of production value and helping explain why some titles may be more expensive to the company.

Top 10 Countries (Task 3.7 Step 1)

- India, China, and the United States have the highest customer counts.
- These top markets represent Rockbuster's strongest international presence.

Top 10 Countries

Top 10 Cities (Task 3.7 Step 2)

- Aurora is the only city with more than one customer; all remaining cities have one customer each.
- Customer distribution is highly fragmented across cities, with no clear geographic concentration.

Top 10 Cities

Top 5 Customers (Task 3.7 Step 3)

- Zachary Hite is the highest-value customer, having paid a total of $134.71.
- The top 5 customers all spent between $98 and $135, indicating a small group of high-value repeat renters.

Top 5 Customers

Key Insights Summary

- Rockbuster's film catalog shows wide variation in length and pricing, giving customers flexible rental options.
- Most customers come from large international markets such as India, China, and the United States.
- Customer distribution across cities is fragmented, with no single dominant city.
- A small group of repeat customers generates the highest revenue, indicating strong opportunities for loyalty programs.
